Eaton raised a constitutional objection that the bill would limit the right of presidential appointments.

Brents of Washington pointed out the inconsistency of allowing Rhode Island to elect a governor and of denying to the territories, some of them with five times the population, the privilege to have their executives appointed from among their own citizens.

Tillman of South Carolina made constitutional argument in support of the bill. He sarcastically expressed his opinion that the republican side (alluding to Hiscock and others) had at length come to recognize the fact that the [illegible] instrument, the constitution, still somewhat restricted the powers of congress, but admitted that his party was shocked when he discovered that the constitutional point was raised on the wrong bill. Advocating the measure on its merits, he regretted that he did not have time to pay his respects to the carpet baggers. This term brought out considerable discussion, as an old republicane.

Hart moved to recommit the bill with instructions to the committee on territories to except from its provisions the territory of Utah.

"There are just as good Gentiles in Utah as out of it," suggested Maginnis, in opposition to the measure.

The motion was lost—yeas 72, nays 124—and the bill was then passed.

White of Kentucky, after the passage of the bill, moved to amend the title, and launched into an argument when he was called to order by Budd for not confining his remarks to the amendment.

"Oh," said White, "you are not passing bills. You are a young member and don't know the rules." [Laughter.]

Budd—I may be young, but I am not going to have my brains kicked out by a mule.

White—Of course not. You would have to kick yourself in that case.

Budd—You have none to kick out. I understand my place better than the gentleman ever will. [Laughter.]

White then continued his speech, amid many interruptions and much merriment occasioned by the rough manner in which he referred to his interrupters as young men. He had more respect for the constitution than for this twig, no, he was a mere Budd from California. [Laughter.]

"I didn't hear you. What was it?" inquired Budd.

"I might give the gentleman more sound but not comprehension," replied White.

"You are all sound and no comprehension," retorted Budd.

At the conclusion of White's speech the motion to amend the title was lost.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 8.

Hoar's first amendment was taken up, providing that the amount to be distributed the first year be $7,000,000, the second year $10,000,000, the third year $15,000,000, and then diminish at the rate of $2,000,000 yearly until the expiration of the eighth year, when the appropriation shall cease.

The amendment was agreed to—38 yeas to 12 nays.

Another amendment of Hoar's was agreed to, providing that equal opportunity for education be given children in all states.

An amendment was offered by Sherman providing that the money shall be used only for common schools not sectarian in character. The amendment was agreed to—50 yeas to 12 nays.

The first amendment heretofore offered by Harrison was taken up. It provides that no state shall receive the benefits of the act until the governor of the state shall file with the secretary of the interior a statement showing the attendance at schools and expenditures for them. The amendment was agreed to.

A motion by Logan was agreed to striking out the section which permitted states having less than 5 per cent of illiteracy to use money for normal schools or industrial institutes.

A number of amendments offered by Harrison were agreed to, and the bill was reported. The senate read three times and passed by a vote of 33 to 11. Dolph voted aye.

Adjourned.

TUESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, April 8.

The chair laid before the senate the bill to provide a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States.

Hale stated that Hoar, who introduced the bill, did not wish to press it at this time, and he (Hale) would therefore move instead to take up the naval appropriation bill.

Plumb and Miller of New York thought the pleuro-pneumonia bill entitled to precedence over the bankruptcy bill.

Hale then changed his motion and asked unanimous consent to take up the naval appropriation bill.

Beck objected. He preferred that a vote be taken. The vote would bring the naval bill up at once, and would not leave the bankruptcy bill pending as unfinished business.

Hoar characterized the objection as an outrageous and tyrannical perversion of the courtesies of the senate.

Beck retorted that the language of the senator from Massachusetts was wholly unworthy of any but him.

The senate agreed to take up the bill, and many amendments proposed by the senate committee were agreed to.

On reaching the provisions relating to ordnance, Morgan enquired what was being done in the way of manufacture of modern guns, and spoke at some length of the defenseless condition of our seacoast. Hale said the easy, happy-go-lucky way in which we have been going along in regard to our national defense ought to cease.

Bayard said from the appropriations for ordnance contained in the bill under consideration one would suppose we were legislating for the kingdom of Lilliput rather than a great nation like the United States. China, he said, was buying 500 guns, each one of which would cost as much as the whole appropriation for ordnance in this bill. He would favor the purchase by the government of a large steam hammer and the establishment of a foundry, which would leave the government in a position not entirely at the mercy of private enterprise.

Hale gave notice of an amendment to be hereafter moved appropriating $850,000 for the purchase and erection of a plant for casting and forging rough boring and tempering guns up to 100 tons, ready for delivery at gun factories, including the cost of the process of liquid compression if adopted. Also $900,000 for a plant for a gun factory for building guns of from six inch to sixteen inch caliber, including buildings and shrinkage pot.

Vest said we had thousands of miles of sea coast, $1,500,000,000 of annual commerce, which was rapidly increasing, and resources and capabilities that almost beggared description. Yet we were without a navy or a commercial marine, and our sea coasts were utterly defenceless. Yet since 1861 $180,000,000 had been appropriated by congress for naval purposes. Italy, the land of macaroni and 'lazzaroni,' had the largest war ships and the largest guns on the ocean, while this great nation had cockle shells and naval pleasure boats and no guns to amount to anything. What we were asked upon to expend money to be paid to the same contractor, John Roach, who was now building for us vessels which high authorities pronounced defective. Vest was not willing to give money to the present secretary of the navy to be [illegible] over to John Roach, for whom according to the statements made on the floor of the senate the secretary had at one time been a paid lobbyist. Vest [illegible] to [illegible] merchant marine, the [illegible] of which he said was due to the [illegible] [illegible] John Roach. Not a civilized nation existed to-day that had not abandoned that policy.

Before Vest concluded his remarks the senate went into executive session and soon adjourned.

IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A resolution was introduced and Senator Morgan made a speech upon it in the executive session of the senate this afternoon, authorizing the president to recognize the African international association as the controlling power in the valley of the Congo. Copies of the treaty lately made between Great Britain and Portugal, which in effect has for its purpose the practical exclusion of all other countries in affairs of that region, were before the senate and formed one of the subjects of Morgan's remarks. No objection to the proposed recognition was expressed, but several senators wished an opportunity to look into the matter more at leisure, and final action was postponed to a subsequent executive session.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT-CHAT.

AMENDMENTS REPORTED BY SHERMAN.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Amendments to the inspection of meats bill reported by Sherman to-day from the senate committee on foreign relations deal altogether with the importation into the United States of diseased cattle, or cattle which have been exposed to infection. They provide for prohibition of the importation of neat cattle, sheep and other ruminants and swine which are diseased or infected with any disease, or which shall have been exposed to such infection within sixty days preceding their exportation. Any vessel importing such cattle shall be forfeited to the United States. Quarantine for cattle is provided for, and collectors of customs are authorized to slaughter any diseased cattle, the owners to be compensated therefor.

A LETTER FROM WALSH.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Chairman Springer has received a long letter from John A. Walsh, in which he says he has seen in the public prints the testimony of George Bliss before Springer's committee that he (Walsh) has always been difficult to find. Walsh says he can be found at all times when he came to Washington. Pitts, as prosecutor, had [illegible] [illegible] merchant service of [illegible] [illegible] letters to R. T. S. [illegible] will disclose when and why it he [illegible] [illegible] the committee to call for those letters.

AN ADVERSE REPORT ADOPTED.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The house committee on judiciary to-day adopted Representative Maybury's adverse report on the joint resolution to submit a constitutional amendment giving women the right of suffrage. The report [illegible] ground that it is inexpedient to extend the right of suffrage now, but it [illegible] [illegible] advisable at any time in the future to make woman's right to vote. Representatives Reed, Browne [illegible] and E. B. Taylor of Ohio will submit the minority report.

MEDILL ON NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.

The Chicago Publisher makes Argument before the Committee on Postoffices and Postroads.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune and president of the Western Associated Press, made argument to-day before the senate committee on postoffices and postroads in favor of reduction in the present postal rates of postage on newspapers issued from the office of publication. The present law was, he said, the outcome of laying an oppressive tax on publishers. It was enacted in 1874, and fixed the rate at 2 cents on papers issued from the office of publication and two cents per pound, which rate is to be prepaid at the office of publication. Before the enactment of this law postage on this class of mail matter was collected at the office of delivery from subscribers. As the news agent or whoever received the papers, the tax falling upon the purchaser, as it ought; but it was said that many papers were not taken. The practice was then in order to stop this imposition the law requiring prepayment was enacted. The result has been that the publishers of the United States have been compelled to pay this tax, amounting to about $1,500,000 per annum, during the past ten years.

DISCRIMINATION.

Medill said: When this law was passed it was said that country weeklies should be allowed to travel through the mails free of charge within the county in which they are published. This law was unfair. It helped newspaper publishers in country seats, and in large counties like Lancaster in Pennsylvania and St. Lawrence in New York, but did not benefit weekly publications in the corner of counties, or on the margin of counties, a large proportion of whose circulation is in counties other than that in which they are published. He says the press generally did not think it fair, in order to make the deficiency caused by carrying government matter free, and county papers free in the county of publication, that they should be compelled to bear the burden of the present rate, especially when the government is in receipt of millions of surplus revenue, which are such a trouble to congress. If the rates charged by the government were cut down to one dollar per hundred pounds, he thought about all the newspapers would go to the mails instead of by express, as now, their rate in many cases being cheaper.

It was impolitic for a liberal government to seek to derive revenue from the transportation of intelligence. A tax on knowledge is not a good source of revenue for the support of the government. He also argued that the general dissemination of newspapers among the people resulted in a great increase of the number of letters carried, and thus multiplied letter postage to an extent that makes up more for the government than it would incur loss from carrying newspapers cheaply.

A GERMAN PUBLISHER.

Mr. Hesing, of the Chicago Staats Zeitung, followed Medill. He said the people in Germany as a rule read very few newspapers. What they did read were usually official newspapers and small affairs. When they came to this country they had to be educated to read papers. He found it a fact that people who did not read papers made little use of the mails. If the postage was reduced it would materially help small newspapers, which are now barely able to struggle along.

THE LOSS OF THE JEANNETTE.

Testimony of Seaman Nindermann and Dr. Collins.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Seaman Nindermann continued his testimony before the Jeannette committee to-day. He said if the survivors of the Jeannette had been under proper guidance and control they would not have had to make a journey of more than 30 miles in a southerly direction from where the Jeannette went down to reach aid and succor. He thought it was twice that distance from where the ship was lost to the place where the bodies of DeLong and his party were found. There was a delay of eight days at Bennett's Island during the retreat. Witness had heard protests against this delay. In his judgment had it not been for this delay they might have reached shore before the gale in which Chipp's boat was lost. The retreating party had hatchets, but no axes. There was a good deal of drift wood along the Lena, near where the DeLong boat's crew landed, but they had no axes to cut it with. They had a rifle, but no shot gun. They saw many ptarmigan which might have been killed if they had had shot guns. The sextant and compasses were left where the party landed. No commissioned officer of the Jeannette stood deck watch to his knowledge. In witness's opinion if Melville had gone north along the Lena from Belun he might have reached DeLong's party.

DR. COLLINS TAKES THE STAND.

Dr. Collins then took the stand and testified to his relations with the naval court of inquiry. When he sought an investigation, Captain DeLong's treatment of his brother, Judge Advocate General Lemly and Judge Advocate Lemly of the navy suggested to him that there were charges against his brother on file in the navy department, and that it would perhaps be best to let the whole matter drop, as an investigation would not do either party any good. Lemly said it was Secretary Chandler's wish that the matter be dropped. Witness said he wanted to have all the facts concerning the expedition known. In the conversations Lemly said to witness that he had better not go before the court unless sent for, that he (Lemly) would put any questions witness desired, but would reserve the right to object to any that reflected on any dead man or which he deemed improper. Witness must remember, he said, that this was a naval court martial, and that everything would be looked at from a naval standpoint. Witness then related a conversation he had with Lieut. Danenhower in the Fifth Avenue hotel, New York, soon after the arrival of the first Jeannette survivors from Siberia. In that conversation Danenhower said witness's brother had led a hell of a life in the Arctic, and if he had been called as witness, brother was he would have gone over the ship's side.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC GRANT.

Henley's Report Adopted by the Committee—Brents will offer a Substitute.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The house committee on public lands to-day adopted the report prepared by Henley on the bill to forfeit a portion of the land grant of the Northern Pacific railway. Oates, Van Eaton and Strait voted against the report. Holford was not present.

Delegate Brents will offer a substitute for the bill agreed upon by the majority of the committee, when it is brought up for consideration in the house. The substitute declares forfeited those lands granted to the Northern Pacific Railway Company lying coterminous with and adjacent to that part of its proposed railway between Wallula, Washington territory, and Portland, Oregon, for breach of the conditions on which they were granted. All the rest of the lands granted the company are confirmed to it on the express condition that it shall fully conform to and comply with all the requirements of the act. The company shall henceforth construct not less than 100 miles of its railway each year and complete and equip the whole by July 4, 1886, except the portion between Wallula and Portland. All lands confirmed to the company shall be subject to assessment and taxation by a state, territory, county or municipal[ity]. All agricultural lands so confirmed which were not sold before January 1884 shall be sold by the company only to citizens of the United States, in quantities not exceeding 160 acres to any one person, and at prices not exceeding $2.50 per acre.

The substitute for the bill has a clause relating to discrimination in freight charges, prohibiting arrangements with the [illegible], and provides that maximum passenger fares will be prescribed by the commissioner of railroads.

THE ODIOUS STAMP ACT.

Mexicans Object to the Government's Recent Action.

KANSAS CITY, April 8.—The Journal's Mexico special says: All the stores in the republic are closed to-day in protest against the stamp act. Efforts to establish a compromise between merchants and the president have failed. The latter insists on collecting tax at all hazards. There is a great deal of talk of [illegible] more [illegible] for violating the spirit of the law. Minister Morgan is unable to protect the property of Americans against the enforcement of the decree. All business is suspended. No store will be open to-morrow unless the police open them. Great anxiety of a riot is feared.

FROM MATAMORAS.

GALVESTON, April 8.—News Matamoras special: The stamp tax proposed by the Mexican government upon liquors, chinaware, jewelry, hardware, boots and shoes, medicines, hats and caps, preserves and several other things is from ½ to 15 per cent on the value. It is thought in Matamoras to be a blow at the new reciprocity treaty, as the articles named are among the principal ones conceded by the Mexican government. It also requires that on the 15th inst. everyone shall deposit at the custom houses all nickel money on hand, receiving therefor certificates to return. Duties to the amount of 15 per cent. may be paid in these certificates. It is imperative that 15 per cent of the money tendered in payment of duties shall consist of nickel. There will be no [illegible] that [illegible] in circulation after the 12th, and the government can then charge a premium. Many fear this policy of the government, if persisted in, will cause serious trouble and perhaps revolution.

THE GOVERNMENT WEAKENS.

MEXICO, April 8.—From official information it is learned that the government has made an arrangement with merchants regarding the stamp law which will remove all cause for trouble and anxiety. The situation at no time was as alarming as reported. Merchants are at their places of business to-day.

THE STAGE.

MARY ANDERSON DID NOT PLAY.

LONDON, April 8.—[Special.]—Miss Anderson is to be [illegible] playing Saturday evening. The story that she [illegible] [illegible] illness. Every theater was [illegible] and [illegible] out of respect to [illegible]. She [illegible] absolutely refused to play. Her popularity is greatly increased thereby. A morning paper contains a card from Anderson in which she explains her action and expresses her thanks for the great popular kindness which has been extended to her throughout her London season.

A RUMOR ABOUT PATTI.

NEW YORK, April 8.—[Special.]—A special from [illegible] says: Paris papers report a rumor that Adelina Patti [illegible] [illegible] for retiring from the stage and has [illegible] a [illegible] to return to her husband, the Marquis de Caux. The story is generally discredited here.

A Remedy for Lung Diseases.—Dr. Robert Newton, late President of the Eclectic College of the City of New York, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, used Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam very extensively in his practice, as many of his patients now living and restored to health by the use of this invaluable medicine can amply testify. He always said that so good a remedy ought not to be [illegible], but freely used by every physician in the land. It is a certain cure in all cases of lung diseases. It cures consumption and has no equal for all pectoral complaints.

Damaging Testimony Against the Metropolitan Police.

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM VARIOUS POINTS.

The "Sun" on the Steady Decline in the Price of Wheat—Union Veterans at the Battle Field of Shiloh—Political News.

NEW YORK, April 7.—In the legislative inquiry into the management of the police department to-day, Anthony Comstock told what he knew about the raids of the police to all the policy and lottery dealers in this city, whenever they heard that warrants were issued. Superintendent Walling, he said, then ordered the [illegible] by any member of the force from executing any warrant except by witness. The committee's investigation went further by appearing before the legislative committee with other evidence of the police department. It was said that he had some evidence that the [illegible] dreaded against policy dealers and gamblers and they were indicted. Witness related some of his attempts to raid. One was his appeal to Sergeant Flanagan of the Tombs squad. He assisted him to raid a policy shop in Greenwich street. Policeman Dwyers was standing by during the raid. When Comstock and his officers reached the place, the first man who came out was the same Policeman Dwyer. He had just left, as he thought, in time. He must have tripped pretty lively, said witness, to head me off, for I went as a rattling pace. [Laughter.] The next chase was from the Twenty [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] station house to A. Adams' place on Third street. When witness applied at the station house for assistance, Officer's hill ran out and along the street into a saloon near Adams, and the bartender rushed out and gave the alarm and the man escaped. Witness said he raided Adams' place four times and finally brought up J. W. Pattee, who offered witness $2,000 if he would not appear to prosecute him and his agents, but it was compelled the whole number to go into court and plead guilty.

The Lost Steamship.

HALIFAX, April 8.—Three wrecking schooners are taking out the cargo from the wrecked steamer Steinmann. Divers report the steamer upright and the rock house in place, but the hull shows signs of going to pieces. Divers have not yet entered the cabin. No bodies have yet been seen in the vessel. It is the opinion of many well acquainted with the coast that most of the bodies outside of the vessel will be carried to sea by the under tow. The surviving passengers leave to-morrow for New York. The opinion of seafaring men acquainted with the approaches to the harbor is unfavorable to the commander of the Steinmann regarding the working of the ship on the night of the disaster.

HALIFAX, April 8.—An official investigation into the loss of the steamer Daniel Steinmann has begun. Three passengers saved have been examined. Their testimony only showed that the weather was intensely thick, and that there was no drunkenness among the officers or crew. It added nothing to the knowledge of what precipitated the vessel upon the rocks. The coroner's investigation upon the bodies recovered resulted in a verdict of accidental drowning.

The Cincinnati Riot.

CINCINNATI, April 8.—The Seventh regiment left the city this morning, and the jail is now protected by militia and a detail of fifty extra police, under Lieutenant Longer in charge of the Gatling gun, to assist the sheriff. The First regiment continues to remain in readiness for a call. The riot's arrests were in effect in the sale of seats at auction for the dramatic festival association. A very small number of bidders were present and only about 100 seats were sold during an hour. The sale continued during the forenoon. Premiums began at $30, but fell so that the average was not more than $5. Manager Miles says he finds that the people abroad are unusually afraid to come to Cincinnati for fear of being shot, and he says no appearance of safety seems sufficient to remove the fear of danger.

High Houses.

NEW YORK, April 8.—[Special.]—Considerable interest is manifested here on the fate of the bill before the legislature regulating the height of new buildings. The fire department tell us they cannot cope fairly with any fire more than sixty five feet high, and fire seventy five feet is about the extreme point they can touch. What can they do then with a fire in the upper part of a house 150 feet high? They answer that the only thing is to wait till it burns down to a point within their reach. Yet within about two years more than 100 have been erected in New York, of which the lowest is five feet [illegible] this maximum, and sixty six of which are dwelling houses.

Letter from Grant.

NEW YORK, April 8.—[Special.]—Herald's Washington: An interesting letter has recently been written by General Grant to General Logan in regard to the order given the latter a few days before the battle of Nashville, looking to relieving General Thomas from command of the army of the Cumberland. There has been an attempt to make it appear that Logan intrigued to be placed in Thomas' command. This has never been charged by friends of that officer. The facts were that Logan reported at City Point on his way to Savannah, just at the time Grant was most dissatisfied with affairs at Nashville. He was therefore ordered there.

Annual Election of Directors.

DENVER, April 8.—At the annual meeting of the Colorado Coal and Iron Company held at Colorado Springs to-day the following directors were elected: A. A. Danforth, John H. Small, Henry P. Sprague, W. H. Lawrence, J. E. Dablin, A. Bulten, W. A. Dick, Coleman, Benedict and Thomas F. Ryan. The Palmer faction represented 31,000 and the anti-Palmer 5790 shares of the total of 103,000. Henry Sprague will probably be chosen president.

Chicago Produce Market.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Wheat active, firm and higher; 82⅞c for April; 82⅞@83c for May. Corn active and not much changed; 45½c for April; 49⅝@49⅞c for May. Oats steady; 30¾@27c for April. [illegible] for May. Rye, 56@56c higher; 61@55c cash. Barley firm at 66c. Pork easier and down. Lard, quiet; $8.30 for April. Bulk meats in fair demand and easy; shoulders $7; short ribs, $8.20; short clear, $8.95. Whisky unchanged.

New York Notes.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The subscription books for capital stock of the New York Cable railway were opened this morning. Two million dollars, the limit fixed by the rapid transit commission, were subscribed in an hour.

Special engagements for shipment to Europe to-morrow aggregate $2,150,000.

Produce exports for the week $5,461,000.

Clearing House Returns.

BOSTON, April 8.—A table compiled from special dispatches from managers of twenty-seven leading clearing houses in the United States gives clearances for the week ending 5th inst. with the percentage of increase and decrease compared with the corresponding week in 1883. Total $182,048,084, decrease 1.01; outside of New York $81,232,071, increase 1.4.

National Bank Failure.

MONMOUTH, Ill., April 8.—The First National bank closed its doors at 11 o'clock this forenoon. The cause assigned is speculation by the cashier, B. T. O. Hubbard, whose deficit is estimated at $45,000 to $100,000. The bank is expected to resume in a day or two, as the stockholders are liable, and are all moneyed men.

Will to be Contested.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Proceedings have been begun to contest the will of Benjamin Bush. He gave about a million and a half to charity before he died. The will is contested by Mrs. Collins, his niece, upon the ground that he was mentally incapacitated from making a will.

On a Strike.

NEW ORLEANS, April 8.—There is a general strike to-day of mechanics working on buildings in factories and car shops, in accordance with a resolution adopted yesterday. Several bosses have yielded. The expositon management have agreed to pay an advance and work here is uninterrupted.

Against the Silver Dollar.

LOUISVILLE, April 8.—At a meeting of the directors of the board of trade to-day the action of the New York chamber of commerce in asking congress to stop the coinage of the silver dollar was indorsed.

Wool Markets.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—Wool is quiet and unchanged.

BOSTON, April 8.—Wool is dull. Michigan extra fleece 35@36; unwashed wools, 16@22; pulled 30@38.

Municipal Election.

HELENA, M. T., April 8.—Helena elected Huntley democrat mayor by 200 majority. Also all the city officers and three of the aldermen. The other two aldermen are republicans.

Typhus Fever.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Typhus fever has broken out among Poles in east side tenements. The disease is traced to emigrants on two steamships lately arrived.

Failed.

BOSTON, April 8.—Pettingill & Everett, importers and shipping merchants, who failed, have liabilities to the amount of $220,000, nominal assets, $80,000.

Stocks.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Stocks dull but strong this morning with an advance of ⅛@⅜. Great improvement in Western Union and Lake Shore.

Securing Recruits.

NEW YORK, April 8.—A Havana letter says that the filibusters in Cuba are securing recruits in many ports of the island.

THE STOCK MARKET.

A Good Day for the Bulls—Prices Advancing Sharply.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Governments higher. Railways strong. With the exception of a slight spell of weakness in the afternoon due to realizations the stock market was strong and higher. An more confident tone prevailed, on the belief that the railroad troubles were in a fair way of settlement. Leading bear traders were heavy buyers throughout the day and large short contracts in Union Pacific were covered, prices advancing ⅜ to 2⅜ per cent. The market closed steady and strong. Compared with Monday night's closing prices are ⅜ to 2⅛ per cent higher.

MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Money easy at 1½@2; prime mercantile paper 4@5½; sterling exchange dull, $4 86½.

Bonds—3s 101¼, 4½s, 113¾, 4s, 123⅜, Pac 6s 95s.

Stocks—American Express 97⅞; Canadian Pacific 52; Canada Southern 50⅝; Central Pacific 57⅞; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy 24½; Delaware & Lackawanna [illegible]; Denver & Rio Grande 18⅜; Erie 21⅛; [illegible]; L. & St. J. 30⅞; Kansas and Texas 31⅞; Lake Shore 98⅜; Louisville & Nashville 47⅜; Michigan Central 89; Northern Pacific 22⅜; Northern Pacific preferred 48⅝; Northwestern [illegible]; New York Central [illegible]; Oregon Navigation 84⅜; Oregon and Transcontinental [illegible]; Oregon Improvement 41; Pacific Mail 54; Panama 98; Rock Island 20; St. Paul 86⅞; Texas Pacific 21⅞; Union Pacific 72⅞; U. S. Express 60; Wells Fargo 10; Western Union 69⅜.

AT THE BATTLE FIELD OF SHILOH.

Union Veterans from the North Visit the Scene where so Many of their Comrades Fell.

SHILOH, April 8.—The day broke bright, mild and beautiful. The Shiloh party, who arrived yesterday morning, as the steamers Joe Gilbert and W. T. Nesbit lashed together steamed up to Pittsburg landing with about 450 passengers, composed mostly of members of the G. A. R. from Illinois, Indiana and Iowa. Flags were flying from the mast head and rigging and two brass bands were playing Home Sweet Home and Auld Lang Syne. A number of citizens on shore before the excursionists as they landed. A column was formed, and led by the brass bands marched up to the [illegible] in the center of the national cemetery, the bands beating the dead march of muffled drums. Here they played Webster's funeral march. Men were standing with uncovered heads and tears were running down the cheeks of many as they looked around and recognized the names of many old comrades. The white marble slabs at the heads of the graves rose like undulating waves as far as the eye could reach. The column formed again and marched to a platform erected for the speakers and the bands, at the west end of the cemetery.

THE CEREMONIES.

The ceremonies were opened with an appropriate prayer by Captain T. J. Bryant.

Rev. Ernest Cotton, a local preacher, explained that the small assemblage was due to the fact that many people had been scared away in consequence of a small [illegible].

Captain [illegible] of Savannah, Tennessee, member of the G. A. R., said Governor B[illegible] had promised to be present and make a speech, and Captain Fuyte, state superintendent of education, had promised to deliver an address. But did not come, that he surely would deliver an address of welcome to the visitors. Mr. Harkins heartily deplored that there were no representatives from the confederate army to welcome the visitors.

Hon. F. D. Smith of Illinois was orator of the day and delivered a stirring speech, eulogistic of both the federal and the confederate dead. He concluded as follows: "The ever steadily flowing current of the beautiful Tennessee, which perpetually lays at the foot of the hill on which rest our beloved dead, comes down from the uplands of the south to join the waters with rest of the great rivers of the north. So may the currents of patriotic love of country come from the south land and join others from all parts of the country until all are embraced in one sentiment of love and respect for the inseparable union of states."

LET US PASS OVER THE RIVER.

The speech making concluded, the entire audience, which by this time had been largely augmented by people from across the river and the neighborhood, then sang "Nearer my God to Thee," the band leading with the cornet.

Children of a neighboring Sunday school sang a hymn founded upon Stonewall Jackson's last words: "Let us Pass Over the River." This affected many of the audience to tears, and was well received. This was all that was said or done in memory of the confederate dead, who lay buried in the surrounding fields without a stone to mark the spot.

The audience sang, "I love to tell the story," and the veterans then dispersed over the country, led by a guide, to look over the old Shiloh church, looking for places where comrades fell and they fought and many were wounded beside them.

There was an old time camp fire last night by a spring hard by, where bacon and beans being cooked and eaten from tin plates.

The entire day was spent in visiting points of interest on the battle field. The steamboats left at 8 P. M. on the return trip.

THE TUMBLE IN WHEAT.

What the "Sun" Says of America's Lost Policy with Europe.

NEW YORK, April 8.—[Special.]—The Sun, in its leading Wall Street article, says: The continued fall of prices in the Chicago wheat market was the all-absorbing topic of interest among financiers last week. Stock operators last week. They seemed to have given up their own business for the time, and to have devoted all their attention to grain quotations. It is just as well to put aside all illusions, and to look the future right in its disagreeable face. Our wild grain speculation and constant efforts to tighten the [illegible] market have caused Europe to look for supplies elsewhere. For a day English and French grain merchants buy futures in Russian and Indian produce against their contracts in the New York and Chicago markets. It is hard to believe, but it is nevertheless a fact, but there is at the present moment a large foreign short interest in our market. Of course this wonderful [illegible] is the conditions of the world's grain market could not have occurred but for the immense increase of production made by India, Russia and Australia. But this was not the work of a few weeks. It took years to build up their [illegible] which now bring to the seaboard at almost [illegible] rates all the wheat grown in the interior of those immense countries. But we did not pay the slightest attention to what was going on there. Sprung single handed every [illegible] believe that America would always beat the world, and that the world could not live without us. We are now paying for that short sighted neglect. Our policy has been very high overtrading and [illegible] everything and overproducing everything. The result was natural. Our export trade has been less than our importations, and the balance of trade so [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to such a pass that nobody now either wants our produce or our [illegible] [illegible] except our gold.

A LEADING QUESTION.

One hears on every side the question: "But where is this going to stop?" The question is not an easy one to answer, but it certainly looks as if the process must continue until we bring our products down to the prices of other countries, and until we get our system of corporate institutions so as to inspire some confidence in their management. It is evident that money is a drug at 1½ per cent, and when 7 per cent dividend paying stocks like Union Pacific and St. Paul, for instance, are selling at 70 to 80 cents on the dollar, there must be something rotten in the very foundation of the system. When all speculative and swindling directors are put out of office, when honest reports of the workings of companies are regularly printed, and when dividends are reduced to a strict basis of the earning capacity of the roads, we shall possibly get foreign money again, and if we still remain unable to export wheat, we may be able to export stocks and bonds again.

Those who are anxious to find out what the bottom prices are likely to be for grain in Chicago will probably not make a great mistake if they put wheat at 70 cents, corn at 40 cents and oats at 25 cents. The great mass of sales made within three weeks are mostly genuine actual sales of property. Speculative short sales were indulged in principally to New York. Chicago being naturally bulls, and it is not unpleasant to say that New York has badly beaten Chicago this time. The peculiar beauty of the same was that the fluctuations were so rapid that covering could often be done within a few hours of a sale. The consequence was that there was never any large short interest outstanding, and no strong squeezes."

POLITICAL.

ARKANSAS REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 8.—The republican state convention at [illegible] session, chose Sam W. Millar as permanent chairman. The following delegates from the state at large were elected: Powell Clayton, H. M. Cooper, Logan H. Roots and M. W. Gibbs. Alternates, H. L. Remmell, E. O. Morris, B. [illegible] Thomas and M. A. Clark. Delegates from congressional districts will be appointed to-morrow by delegates from the districts. All the delegates are uninstructed, but are understood as favorable to Arthur, his presidential chance of success. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the administration of President Arthur has commended itself to the republicans of the country and to the people at large. When he was called to the presidency he found the republican party distracted by internal dissensions. His wise and prudent administration of the affairs of the government has tended to heal these dissensions, strengthen and build up the party, and enable it now to present a united front to the enemy with full assurance of success in the pending campaign.

It is also resolved to put a full state ticket in the field. A resolution indorsing Senator Logan was offered as a substitute, but declared out of order under the rules. Adjourned until 9:30 o'clock to-morrow.

THE INDEPENDENT REPUBLICANS.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The independent republican conference committee held another meeting to-day. General Francis O. Barlow presided. Letters from prominent republicans of the country were read, showing a strong feeling in favor of Edmunds and Lincoln for the presidential ticket. Although Blaine has many friends, they expressed grave doubt of his ability to carry New York, and his policy if elected. There was a general opinion that Blaine, Arthur and Logan were men whom it would be safe for the party to nominate, as the candidate should have a better record than any of these.

NOT FOR LOGAN.

BALTIMORE, April 8.—A convention of colored delegates sixty in number, representing all the counties in the state and the several legislative districts of Baltimore, met this afternoon to select delegates to the national convention at Richmond, Virginia, July 7. A resolution declaring Logan the choice of the colored voters of Maryland was rejected. Office-holders were not permitted any prominence in the proceedings.

DEMANDING ONE DELEGATE.

BALTIMORE, April 8.—The colored republican voters of the Fourth congressional district met to-night, demanding that, as colored voters are fully one-half of the republican vote of the district, they are entitled to a district delegate to the national convention at Chicago. A resolution was adopted to use all honorable means to accomplish that result.

LOGAN DELEGATES CHOSEN.

PETERSBURG, Ill., April 8.—The republicans of the Thirteenth congressional district this afternoon chose Dr. William Jaynes of Sangamon county, and ex-Congressman C. D. Smith of Tazewell county as delegates to the national convention, and instructed for Logan for president.

DEMOCRATS CARRY THE CITY.

CINCINNATI, April 8.—Returns from fifty seven of the eighty-one voting places in the city show the election of the entire democratic ticket, with the exception of the clerk of the police court, by a majority of from 400 to 800. The municipal reform ticket polled about 900 votes.

REPUBLICAN TICKET ELECTED.

CLEVELAND, April 8.—The republican city ticket was elected by an average majority of 3100. John N. Farley, democratic mayor, [illegible] a year, was elected last spring by 3600 majority.

FOR BLAINE.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 8.—The result of the republican city caucuses to-night make this congressional district for Blaine.

ACCIDENTS.

SIX NEGROES DROWNED.

VICKSBURG, April 8.—Six negroes, of eleven in a boat, were drowned to-night by the upsetting of a skiff while crossing the river. They were from McDowell's plantation, and were coming after stock.

Don't lie awake nights and cough! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve the cough and induce a good night's rest.

The Sharon Divorce Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—In the Sharon divorce case yesterday the gardener, Dudley Gillard, employed at Masonic cemetery, testified relative to Miss Hill having placed a package of Sharon's underwear in a newly made grave. He said that in the spring of 1881 Miss Hill, accompanied by Miss Brackett, said at the cemetery, Hill said she had just had her fortune told, and in obedience to counsel she wanted to place a package in a newly made grave. She said the package contained flowers and rose leaves. Witness, who was personally acquainted with Miss Brackett, granted the request. Hill went down a ladder into the grave and placed the package under the coffin shell. She insisted on witness accepting a silver dollar, saying it he did not take it the charm would not work. Witness said he was present when the package was exhumed. It was the same that had been deposited there by Hill. Cross-examination failed to disturb his testimony.

In the Sharon case to-day H. C. Smith, bookkeeper at Masonic cemetery, and Dr. Mears, health officer, confirmed the testimony of previous witnesses regarding the removal from a grave of a package of underclothes belonging to Sharon. James Murgan, a mining man, testified to having twice gone, at the request of Miss Hill, to the father of Reuben Lloyd, the attorney, with the object of bringing about a reconciliation between Miss Hill and Lloyd. The latter objected to seeing her and said he would have nothing more to do with her.

Rich Silver Find.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—The Examiner's Tucson special says: On Sunday, April 6, an Indian brought into camp this morning a piece of mineral which weighs eight and one-half pounds. It was bought of him at sight for $6 and resold the next moment for $70. It is evidently pure silver, and the real worth cannot be less than $150. There is great excitement in camp about it. The Indian claims to have found it across the Mexican line. He was offered $50 if he would tell where he found it, but he refused.

Personal.

[Special.]—Mrs. Martinez Campbell, the well known skater, was thrown from her carriage a few days ago, and sustained serious injuries. She suffers greatly, but is now out of danger.

Judge Sawyer of the United States circuit court left on the steamer this morning for Portland, where he will hold court.

Shipping Intelligence.

Arrived—Steamer Oregon, Polemann, 57 hours from Portland via Astoria, 41 hours; passengers and merchandise, to O. R. and N. Company; steamer San Pedro, Hewitt, 83 hours from New Tacoma, 4000 tons coal to Pacific Improvement Company. Sailed—Steamer Columbia, Bolles, Astoria and Portland; bark Don Nicolas, Marden, Port Townsend.

To Punish Recreant Legislators.

A number of democratic members met this evening and appointed committees, who were instructed to make arrangements for a mass meeting that action might be taken for punishing such legislators as proved recreant to their trust.

Not for Sargent.

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—In the senate Cross offered a resolution thanking Sargent for his services at Berlin in behalf of American products. Debate being cut off, the resolution was tabled by a vote of 22 to 12, several republicans voting in the affirmative, at [illegible] explaining their votes by claiming that the resolution was not within the purview of the special session and therefore should be tabled.

STATE DISPATCHES.

Polk County Democratic Convention.

DALLAS, April 8.—[Special.]—The Polk county democratic convention met here to-day and made the following nominations: Senator, W. M. Walker; representative, E. H. Fa[illegible], Joseph Craven and W. H. Kirkendall; county judge, I. I. Dempsey; sheriff, John F. Groves; clerk, J. W. Sears; treasurer, C. T. Miller; assessor, Nash Gregg; delegates to state convention, H. W. Holt, N. L. Butler, W. A. Basket, Ira S. Townsend and L. F. Smith.

UTAH.

Will Stand by Polygamy.

SALT LAKE, April 8.—In closing the session of the Mormon conference, John Taylor put to a vote the question: "Shall we uphold the doctrine of plural marriage, or polygamy, stand by it and defend it?" The congregation of 7000 unanimously shouted "Yes."

Eighty-eight Mormon Missionaries.

SALT LAKE, April 8.—Eighty-eight Mormon missionaries appointed at the recent conference leave to-morrow for all parts of the earth to preach the Mormon gospel. They are expected to go without purse or scrip, yet all have engaged transportation in palace cars.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Notes from Tacoma.

TACOMA, April 8.—[Special.]—Governor Newell to-day commuted the death sentence of [illegible] M. [illegible] who was to be hanged at Vancouver, in order to life imprisonment on the grounds of doubts as to his sanity.

Thomas Coverdale, a former resident of Portland, died here to-day. The body will be sent to Portland for interment to-morrow.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A SANGUINARY MELEE.

JUNCTION CITY, Kas., April 8.—Yesterday at noon, as Tim O'Connor and his brother Mike were driving along the road on Dry creek, twelve miles from here, they were warned by Ernest Allen and others not to cross a certain piece of land belonging to the school district. Not heeding the warning, an attempt was made to stop them, which did not succeed, and they passed on. When returning later in the day, O'Connor found a wire stretched across school district land to prevent their passage, and five men, two named Allen and three others. Mike O'Connor cut the wire, when Ernest Allen shot and killed Tim O'Connor. Mike then rushed at one of the Breens with an ax and chopped his head, inflicting mortal wounds. The party then closed in on Mike, and broke a shotgun over his head, disabling him. All the parties have been arrested and jailed. The affair grew out of an old feud between the Breens and the O'Connors.

YOUNG MAPLESON IN TROUBLE.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Arthur Mapleson, son of Col. J. H. Mapleson, was arrested here to-day at the instance of Samuel Pearson, a traveling man. The allegations are that Pearson went to Texas a short time ago, leaving a wife and two children. Mrs. Pearson was in the habit of whiling away the weary hours of her husband's absence by frequenting a beer garden, that she met young Mapleson there, and an intimacy sprung up between them. That when Pearson returned a few days ago he found his wife occupying rooms in not a very reputable quarter, and that his children had been taught to call Mapleson father. Mapleson gave bonds for appearance April 15.

A CASE OF KLEPTOMANIA.

DAVENPORT, Ia., April 8.—For some time residents of this city have been missing articles of wearing apparel and household uses in a most mysterious manner, and the police proved unable to cope with the case. Finally suspicions through a number of small circumstances fell upon the wife of a prominent minister of the gospel. Police visited the house and all the missing articles were found. Owing to the influence of friends, however, no arrest was made. It is claimed to be a genuine case of kleptomania, the woman using her welcome as a minister's wife to gain admittance to houses and to carry things away.

A MURDERER HANGED.

EASTON, Pa., April 8.—John Dillman was hanged here at 11:10 this morning for the murder of his wife. He slept well last night and ate a hearty breakfast this morning. Religious services were held in the city jail by ministers of the German Evangelical and Reformed churches. He marched to the scaffold with a steady step and was unmoved almost to the last. He began to cry after the benediction, but the black cap was drawn over his face. He remained motionless until the drop fell.

ADMITS HIS CRIME.

ALTOONA, April 8.—The coroner's jury found in the recent murder case that Mrs. Beach came to her death at the hands of her husband, and the doctor was arrested. He admits the killing of his wife and wants to be hanged or shot. Dr. Beach was received into a Lutheran church yesterday morning and partook of the communion. It is generally believed he is insane.

CHEEKY BURGLARS.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The safe of the Northwestern boiler works was burglarized last night of $4000 worth of negotiable paper. The burglars left a note saying if the company would address "Safe Blower" through the medium of an advertisement negotiations could be entered into for the return of the securities. Two arrests on suspicion have been made.

TURKISH CONSUL ROBBED.

NEW YORK, April 8.—[Special.]—The apartments of Rustem Effendi, Turkish consul, were entered by a sneak thief Saturday and robbed of $600 in money and a gold watch and chain. The chief value of the time piece lies in the fact that it was a gift of General Garfield.

LEAVE OR BE KILLED.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—A Shenandoah special says: Charles Rice, Polish merchant and agent of the steamship company, and whose tenements are occupied by Hungarian emigrants, has been notified to leave town or be killed.

A CLAIMANT TURNS UP.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Andrew Cunningham of Chicago has laid claim to the estate of the notorious Kate Townsend at New Orleans who was murdered by Treville Sykes. Cunningham alleges that deceased was his sister.

COTTON SWINDLER ARRESTED.

GALVESTON, April 8.—A News Dallas special says: Cammack, the noted cotton swindler, who recently escaped after being arrested at Guaymas, Mexico, has been recaptured and is expected to arrive at Dallas to-morrow.

PLEA OF NOT GUILTY.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., April 8.—Frank James was arraigned this morning before Judge Bruce of the Muscle Shoals robbery and pleaded "not guilty." The case was set for April 10.

The Proposed Soldiers' Home.

NEW YORK, April 8.—A committee of ex-confederate soldiers and G. A. R. representatives met to-night and made final preparations for a mass meeting in Cooper Institute to aid in establishing a fund for the establishment of a soldiers' home at Richmond, Virginia. The speakers will be General [illegible], [illegible], Governor [illegible], Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage and General Tecumseh Sherman.

SNOWSTORM IN THE EAST.

FOUR WATERS, [illegible], April 8.—A heavy snowstorm set in this evening. Between five and six inches has fallen, and it is still snowing.

ENGLAND.

THE REVOLT AGAINST PARNELL.

LONDON, April 8.—[Special.]—The revolt against Parnell is being organized by the more active of the ultra Irish nationalists. The organ of the new departure is James Stephens, ex-head center of the Fenian brotherhood. He has been living very quietly in Paris for the past few years. Stephens proposes to organize an entirely new Irish party, which will be opposed equally to the doctrines of Parnell and the methods of the dynamiters, and hopes to secure the co-operation of the best men in both of these factions. He intends to call a council of Irish nationalists to meet at Paris to formulate a platform and decide upon methods of organization and subsequent operations. Stephens has also been recently in correspondence with some of the Irish in the United States, and says he has received pledges of adhesion from several influential Irish American societies.

THE CAMBRIDGE-OXFORD BOAT RACE.

LONDON, April 7.—Oxford won the toss, and selected the Surrey side. After a false start Cambridge at the word go gripped the water first, and gained a lead of nearly half a length. Oxford by a great effort almost caught Cambridge in the first 100 yards. The tussle was kept up during the first mile, when Cambridge had the lead and was never afterwards headed. In passing Hammersmith, Cambridge was nearly a length ahead. Oxford frequently spurted and Cambridge promptly answered. The steady, choppy sea which then set in seemed to favor Cambridge in rowing and steering. Oxford was somewhat weakened, but the men worked gamely until Barnes was reached, where the result placed Cambridge finished fresh and three lengths ahead. Time 21 minutes and 2 seconds.

ENORMOUS STOCKS OF GRAIN IN LONDON.

LONDON, April 8.—The secretary of the corn exchange reports that there are enormous stocks of wheat, barley and maize in London. In waterside granaries there are 490,000 quarters more wheat than last year and 108,000 quarters less oats. The Standard says: It is obvious that the wheat trade is over done. It is quite likely it is the intent for London and Liverpool to [illegible] [illegible] to know who holds this excess of grain.

SPANISH DISPLEASURE.

LONDON, April 8.—A Standard dispatch from Madrid asserts that much displeasure is felt by the Spaniards towards America for allowing General Aguero to land at Key West.

MADRID, April 8.—The small number of filibusters who landed in Cuba from Key West has led to the supposition that they will be quickly overcome.

WILL MARRY AN ACTRESS.

LONDON, April 8.—[Special.]—Justin McCarthy, Jr., son of the Irish agitator and himself an M. P., is about to be married to Miss Laura [illegible], a popular London actress.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, April 8.—Breadstuffs dull and there is [illegible] business. Winter wheat, 7s 9d@8s; spring, 7s 9d@8s; California, 7s 10d@8s 1d; club, 7s 10d@8s 3d.

ITALY.

THE SEIZURE OF THE PROPAGANDA PROPERTY.

LONDON, April 8.—A Rome special says: The expected attempt of the United States minister to interfere with the seizure of the American college in Rome, on the [illegible], has excited the attention of the recent [illegible]. It was [illegible] the property of the propaganda. It is in rentes. In [illegible] the Vatican [illegible] other nations. In [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] of foreign affairs is now of [illegible] property. It intimated strong measures [illegible] [illegible] court of cassation relative to this property. If the tariff of 30 per cent on works of art imported into the United States is not modified, Italy [illegible] retaliatory measures will undoubtedly be considered here.

THE POPE WILL NOT LEAVE ROME.

LONDON, April 8.—[Special.]—Cardinal Caschi, one of the most distinguished and trusted councillors of Leo XIII, who has been visiting Paris, said yesterday regarding the rumor of the pope's intention to leave the Vatican, replied that he did not believe the report. In his opinion there had been two moments only when the departure might have been advisable, before the Italians came to Rome and before it was formally [illegible] to make it the capital of Italy.

THE QUESTION SETTLED.

ROME, April 8.—Mancini, minister of foreign affairs, stated in the chamber of deputies to-day that the question of the importation of works of art into America would soon be satisfactorily settled. He thanked the American minister and all those who had [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] [illegible].

ROME, April 8.—The Irish Catholic convention in [illegible] in September. The purpose of the gathering is very similar to that of the convention of [illegible] bishops last year.

CANADA.

THE CONSPIRACY CASE.

TORONTO, April 8.—The police magistrate this morning decided in the conspiracy case that the charge of conspiracy had been properly made, and that the evidence was sufficient to hold all four of the defendants to stand trial for conspiracy. Defendants were admitted to bail. On the second charge against them of bribery, it was agreed that the charge should remain on the magistrate's books till the other charge is disposed of.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

TORONTO, Ont., April 8.—J. S. Kirkland, a lawyer of Philadelphia, and three Canadian accomplices, have been committed for trial on a charge of attempting to bribe members of the liberal government. Kirkland fainted in the court room on hearing the announcement.

DISEASED STOCK QUARANTINED.

MONTREAL, April 8.—The government inspector in live stock reports that four fifths of the sheep of La Prairie county afflicted with disease from the infected districts have been quarantined.

GERMANY.

BISMARCK TALKS.

BERLIN, April 8.—Bismarck in a conversation explaining his withdrawal from the Prussian ministry is reported to have said: "I am 70 years old; my nerves are in a bad condition and I have no time to be circumspect. The telegraph fearfully multiplies my work. Germany is interested in whatever happens in the capitals of the world, including Washington. The world is a chess board and I must watch the moves affecting Germany. It is necessary now to study not only the military politicians but also wire pullers, financiers and current opinion everywhere and to act rapidly upon information telegraphed in haste. The chancellorship is no sinecure and its duties might overtax a younger man's strength, without the emperor's support I could not go further."

CONFERENCE OF RHINE CLERICALS.

BERLIN, April 8.—The National Gazette announces that a grand conference of clericals in the Rhine provinces will open Monday. A circular calling the faithful to the conference recalls the persecutions suffered by the bishop of Cologne the last ten years.

AN EARLY ADJOURNMENT INTENDED.

BERLIN, April 8.—The Hanover Courier states that provincial authorities have received instructions prescribing measures to be taken to prepare for the reichstag elections. This indicates that an early dissolution of the reichstag is intended by the government.

RUSSIA.

DETACHMENT SURPRISED.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 8.—A dispatch from General Kmnorn, governor of Transcaspian, dated Askabad, says: Marauders from Channa Kalasy surprised our detachment on the 14th inst., but were repulsed with loss. We lost several soldiers. We afterwards occupied Channa Kalasy and installed the district administration, employing Meroli to build a fort."

ASSASSIN ARRESTED.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 8.—One of the assassins of Colonel Sudeikin has been arrested at Moscow.

FRANCE.

HE DENIES IT.

PARIS, April 8.—The Marquis de Caux denies that a reconciliation has been effected between him and Patti. He says she has not written him in seven years, and if divorce proceedings should be instituted by Patti he would hasten to take advantage of them. He also denies that he gambled while living with Patti.

CHINA.

THE CHINESE ELUDE THE FRENCH.

LONDON, April 8.—The Times correspondent, writing from Hai Phong, says that the French attempt to cut off the Chinese retreat from Bacninh has completely failed. He places the blame of the failure on the commander of the French [illegible].

AN ALL NIGHT ROW.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The republican district convention for the nomination of delegates to the Chicago convention has been in session all day, and at this hour—1:30 A. M.—has not succeeded in agreeing upon any one to represent the district. Disputing and quarrelling and speech making have been the order of the day and evening. Disgraceful scenes were enacted at many primaries last night, and the disorder in the convention to-day has served to give a decided check to the suffrage movement in the district.

CRIMINAL EDUCATION.

The language used by Rev. T. L. Eliot in denouncing the county jail system by which young and old men are congregated in enforced idleness was none too strong. The subject has been earnestly discussed by leading eastern papers within the past few months and the New York evening Post says that the management of the common jails all over the United States is a shameful reproach to a Christian civilization. The assistant bishop of the Episcopal church in New York City, Dr. Potter, recently called attention to the profound atrophy of the public conscience as to the condition of our jails and prisons. He said: "There is an awful state of things in our prisons, disgraceful to the community. Crimes are perpetrated under the cover of jails and prisons. The degradation of those who are almost innocent is going on. Partisanship prevents reform, and jails and prisons are institutions conducted for political purposes. Ours is the guilt. What are we going to do about it? We have largely lost sight of prisons as reformatory institutions. They are schools of vice, kindergartens for training the young into a chronic criminal habit. There must be prayer and visitation of the jails, and we must go out into the streets and talk about this matter. Society must lay its healing touch on this moral sore."

The secretary of the National Prison Association says that one obstacle to a reform of this evil is that sixty sheriffs in the state of New York feed 1800 prisoners, and get $275,000 a year for it. They want to keep their profits. Warden Brush of Sing Sing also says that "the present system of prison management was faulty because it included the money-making idea." The sheriffs are interested in getting all the boarders they can. The larger his hotel the more profitable it is. That such a system should be maintained because a few officers of the state makes money out of it, adds to the disgrace. It is seldom realized how largely the criminal classes are self-perpetuating. A vivid idea of this was given by Mrs. E. B. Chase in an address before a committee of the Rhode Island legislature last month. She said: "A few years ago I visited one of the two almshouses in the city of Dublin, and I saw there eighty-four infants under three months old, each one in the arms of its mother. Most of these mothers were unmarried girls from 11 to 20 years of age. And I learned on inquiry that nearly all of them had been inmates of the almhouse from their infancy until they were old enough to be sent out to service, whence they had returned, to add to the inmates another set of children, born to the same inheritance, and doomed to the same training; and so, from generation to generation, this type of humanity and this sort of education are repeated." As a mere matter of economy a state cannot afford to expose young and comparatively untainted offenders to the corrupting associations of older and more hardened and desperate criminals, as is now done in the county jails. Once all the prisons were like these jails, filthy training schools of idleness and crime. But through such discussion as Mr. Eliot has given to the enormities of the jail system, the prison system has been very much reformed, but the reform ought to extend until it is impossible anywhere in this country for a young man who has generally lived reputably, but has committed a single offense to be imprisoned where he will be associated with men who have spent their lives in crime, and who have no purpose for the future but to continue in the same course when released from imprisonment. The first step in this reform is, as has been urged repeatedly by prison reformers, to take the jails out of the hands of the sheriff and put them into those of the state. This is a single point which can be readily made plain to the comprehension of the public; if the prison reformers will make it so they may do a great deal of good. And then there should be institutions between the county prison and the state prison to which first offenders, and men who, though they have committed crimes, do not belong to the criminal class, can be sent.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Two years ago the woman suffragists induced the legislature to take the preliminary steps toward the submission of a constitutional amendment giving the women the ballot. The question came before the present legislature, and if both branches voted in favor of advancing the measure another stage, it would be sent to the people for their decision at the polls. The senate voted three weeks ago in favor of submission by the narrow majority of 26 to 24, but the house has since voted, 59 to 45, to indefinitely postpone the matter. This, of course, nullifies all the previous steps, and the advocates of woman suffrage find themselves set back two years. In Massachusetts the bill extending municipal suffrage to female citizens was recently defeated by a vote in the house of 144 to 50. Referring to this vote the Boston Transcript, a newspaper which is owned by women and an advocate of their rights, says: "It cannot be supposed, however, that the latter will be the ones to let the matter drop, and there is no escape from the conclusion that the women are in politics to stay, whether they vote or not. The woman suffrage battle is relegated to the field of their own sex; it is there that it must be fought out. It is plain that the whole sex in this state at least, is being drawn into the contest, for while the anti-suffragists have made a stronger showing than ever before and carried the legislature by an increased majority, there were, on the other hand, five times as many petitioners for the suffrage this year as there were last. Considering what 'woman's rights' has accomplished upon the laws regarding women within the last quarter of a century, there is no telling where it is going to stop. Neither legislatures, nor elections, nor political canvasses can make or mar the long drift and tendency of human history. They merely ratify from time to time the great public's opinions and habits as they grow. The ridiculed and mobbed fanatics of thirty years back are the prophets and martyrs of to-day. 'When a decided majority of the intelligent women of Massachusetts, or of any other state, demand the ballot, it will be forthcoming in due season,' says the Journal. That is all there is to the matter."

It is interesting to observe how completely the attempt to start an agitation for further congressional legislation, after the supreme court pronounced the federal civil rights law unconstitutional a few weeks ago, has died out, as one state after another has placed on its statute book a law to secure the same end, which will not conflict with the federal constitution. The federal law never was much more than a dead letter. The state laws which democratic legislators are now passing are much more effective. In Ohio, New Jersey and Connecticut the democrats are pushing this kind of legislature. The bill which has just passed in New Jersey provides that "all persons shall be entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, public conveyances on land or water, theaters and other places of public amusements; subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law, and applicable alike to citizens of every race and color, regardless of any previous condition of servitude."

Secretary Chandler says the use of the naval steamer Yantic was tendered Mr. Edmund's family from Nassau to Charleston, because Mr. Edmunds is vice president, and it could be done without expense, and it was the only way in which they could reach the United States without taking a steamer line for New York, which was not deemed prudent for the daughter.

It is stated that our army of about 25,000 costs yearly but half a million less than the German army of 400,000. This shows that the cost of living is higher in this country.

NOT A PARALLEL.

Our eastern exchanges come to hand filled with long articles on the Cincinnati riots and the melancholy occurrences resulting therefrom. No two concurrent opinions on the terrible deeds are to be found in any two papers thus far received, but all unite in one belief—that such occurrences are likely to take place in any city where the law is defeated through the instrumentality of the pauper and criminal elements, whose power on election day is held over the heads of officials who have fallen out with hard work and are looking to a re-election as their sole hope of a continuance of their daily bread. Things have gone on from bad to worse, until the sympathy between law makers and law-breakers has become so clearly defined that public safety was a thing of the past. A resort to violence was the result, and nearly seventy people have been killed, of whom presumably one half belong to the criminal or to the pauper element.

One eastern paper, whose editor has never resided on the Pacific coast and never read correctly the history of the San Francisco vigilance committee, compares the latter body to the Cincinnati mob, whereas no greater dissimilarity could possibly exist. In the Ohio metropolis all was riot, arson, confusion and terror, while in California the rebellious element was the very personification of order, discipline and regularity. In their threatened vengeance against a murderer the Cincinnati mob destroyed the lives of seventy presumably innocent persons, while the real culprit escaped their pursuit; whereas in San Francisco the popular indignation never missed its mark. It hanged four men for murder, banished twenty-seven from the state, and one man took his own life for fear of being sent back to a county whence he had fled from justice. No destroyed property, no innocent man slaughtered while guilty men escaped, no tumult nor riot marked the path of the San Francisco insurgents. The men of 76, who fought at Concord and Bunker Hill were never actuated by loftier motives, nor showed a higher degree of discipline. Contrast their quiet exterior and solid front of seven regiments, moving with the precision of veterans, with the yelling, reckless and half ragged mob in the streets of Cincinnati, and you will readily see that there were no such elements engaged as there were, either in San Francisco or in Seattle in 1882.

The latter was but a revival of San Francisco on a smaller scale. It arose from like causes. The bench was filled with judges who could not forget that they had been attorneys themselves; and who, laboring under a false and spurious esprit du corps treated criminals (through their attorneys) with undue leniency, and showed no leaning whatever toward the side of the prosecution. When the outbreak came, whom did it harm? None but criminals of the worst type, three hardened villains who had murdered two good citizens, one of whom was a peace officer. They threatened no good citizens with violence, they damaged no property to the value of a dollar. They merely banded together to afford relief in cases where the law had failed, and that once accomplished, they returned quietly to the peaceful avocations of every day life. Surely there can be no room for comparison between Seattle and Cincinnati.

The secret of all this trouble is the power exercised at the ballot-boxes by an element that pays no taxes and, so long as it gets all the whisky it wants, is not likely to have anything it to be taxed. So long as professional politicians, who have fallen out with hard work, pander to this irresponsible and irrational class just so long will the wheels of justice be clogged and vice reign without disturbance. The vote of the criminal class is always a mercenary vote, and for sale to the highest bidder; and for that reason it is always easily controlled by some political boss or other, a man of low origin and naturally allied to this class, like John Kelly in New York or Chris. Buckley in San Francisco. Officers who do their duty fearlessly are not apt to become favorites with this element, and hence we have already seen how the criminal and pauper influence in Cincinnati has warped the ends of justice until a popular outbreak took place. It was, however, evidently not controlled by the best element of population, or it would not have caused the sacrifice of innocent lives while the guilty escaped its vengeance. There can be no parallel between this ruffianly Cincinnati mob and the quiet but determined vigilance committees of Seattle and San Francisco. The queen city of the Ohio river may have had the requisite population, but they lacked both the decency and the discipline which characterizes the Pacific states.

General Grant recently told a newspaper correspondent, speaking of the rebellion, that it was so much a young men's war that he thought himself rather too old to make a successful commander, because he was 39 when the struggle began. He said that the Mexican war, which closed only thirteen years before the rebellion began, seemed to him much more remote in 1861 than the rebellion does now, nearly twenty years after its close. The Mexican war was an episode merely, and, being fought on foreign soil, and with small forces, did not leave such impressions on the minds of those engaged in it as were left by the great civil war. Speaking of the nameless battles of the rebellion, General Grant said that there were many fights brought on by reconnoissances in command of colonels where more men were killed than fell in some of the battles in Mexico which are famous in history. The battles of the civil war were so numerous that their very names are more and more fading from the public recollection, leaving only the most important to stand out distinctly in the national memory.

In order to prevent any possible misunderstanding it ought perhaps to be repeated that the sheriff of this county in assessing and collecting the taxes on mortgages did not violate the decision of Judge Deady. His course was rather in conformity with that decree. The new law having been declared unconstitutional, all that had been done under it was as if it had not been done. But the old law was still in force and as the new law was not a law, there was an omission to assess the debts secured by the mortgages such as the old law provided for as we stated yesterday. The sheriff in making the assessments and collecting the taxes upon them proceeded in accordance with the decree of Judge Deady.

More than 2000 emigrants landed at Castle Garden one day last month and instead of stopping in New York to engage in the rum business and run for aldermen as foreigners used to do, they pushed on through the city to work on farms or in shops. Reports from centres of emigration in Europe indicate that the number of would-be Americans about to sail is unusually large; but as there is room here for all of them, the more the merrier.

Harper's Weekly is strongly against any independent republican movement. It says the republican party stands for what the independent republicans most desire and the democratic party stands squarely opposed to their wishes. Either the one party or the other must succeed in the coming election, and have control of the national government. It prefers the republican to the democratic party.

The Iowa legislature is said to have the strongest and worst lobby ever known in the state, and that the railroad men lead all the rest. They sit with members of the railroad committees on the floors of both houses to whisper advice during contests, and make the rank and file of legislators happy by giving free passes and larger favors right and left.

Bishop Tuttle of Salt Lake City, one of the ablest men in the missionary work in the territories, says the Edmunds law is not a failure, but is doing much good.

VINEYARDS IN THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY.

[CORRESPONDENCE.]

SALEM, April 7, 1884.

EDITOR OREGONIAN.—Your article on "vineyards of the future" moves me to say that a better article of claret is made in this county than any I have seen, from California or southern Oregon. Fifteen years ago an elderly Frenchman came into the northern portion of this county and planted a vineyard of red and white wine grapes. He claimed to have experience in the cultivation of the vine and manufacture of wines, and said that the climate and latitude of the Willamette was better adapted to the production of claret and hock wines than was California. That the best of that class of wines were produced in Europe in similar latitude and climate; that our wines would contain less alcohol and [illegible] than those of California. I think he proved [illegible] claret is milder and [illegible] than similar wines from California or [illegible]. There is [illegible] six years old [illegible] private cellars, and [illegible] we will go there to dinner and [illegible] a bottle or two, and I think you will agree with me. The founder of the vineyard has died, and I do not know that the excellence of the manufacture is now kept up. But I have no doubt that there are thousands of acres in the Willamette valley, better adapted to the culture of the claret and hock grapes than the countries south of us.

THE N P AND THE O R & N CONTRACT—Vice President Oakes of the Northern Pacific, in an interview with a reporter of the Pioneer Press relative to rumors of attempts on the part of the Union and Central Pacific roads to secure control of ex Villard lines in Oregon, and thereby cripple embarrass and injure the Northern Pacific's transcontinental trade, said The Northern Pacific has a contract which ante dates even the construction of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company's road under which the Northern Pacific has access to Portland on as good terms as if the company operated its own line to that point I doubt whether it would build a line of its own to Portland in any event Present arrangements with the Oregon Railway and Navigation company could not be abrogated by a change of ownership The contract is made in perpetuity and good and valid collateral was given Holding such a contract it would not be necessary for the Northern Pacific to build from Wallula junction to Portland even if the Union or Central Pacific secured control of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company

ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.—W. N. Wallace and B. I. Lippincott who have been doing business under the firm name of W. N. Wallace & Co., retail druggists on Washington street between First and Second yesterday made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors to H. W. [illegible] Their statement gives the assets of the firm including stock fixtures book accounts etc as worth the sum of [illegible] and their indebtedness at $4,0[illegible] divided as follows: Christopher Taylor, Davis, Oregon [illegible] San Francisco—Redington & Co $[illegible] Walker & Co. $[illegible]; Portland—[illegible] and & Co. $[illegible] Fisher Bros. $[illegible] [illegible] mer & Co., $[illegible] Carmichael & Stewart $[illegible] Dixon Bernstein & Co. $[illegible] Charles Schle bert $32 80 Irving & W [illegible] J Van Schuyver $15 50 Jas Laidlaw & Co $[illegible] A G Walling $[illegible]

EVIDENTLY TOO INNOCENT.—A quantity of jewelry consisting of a pair of bracelets ring earrings etc missed by one of the sufferers by the fire near the First street bridge on Sunday night was found in a pawnbroker's shop last evening. Policemen Barry and Simm [illegible] arrested Charles Z Harris in the evening on a charge of having stolen it. As he acknowledged that he had pawned it saying he had found it on the floor and did not know it was wrong to take it. Z Harris was up last [illegible] charged with stealing a watch from his sister His ideas on the question of meum et tuum seem to be rather vague He evidently needs legal advice and will probably get it

IMMENSE WAREHOUSE.—A great many who went to the trifling fire near St. Vincent's hospital yesterday made inquiry as to the object of a very large building in process of erection at the north side of N street bridge two blocks east of the hospital It is the wool packing and grading warehouse of Koshland Bros. The building will be under roof early next week and ready for the reception of wool about the 20th inst Work has been prosecuted with more than ordinary vigor by the contractors and there is probably not a more substantial warehouse in town It will have capacity for 6000 bales

THE KALAMA BOAT.—Under the new time card the Kalama boat will stop at the O & C east side pontoon at 4 10 P M to take on through passengers mails and baggage for the sound from the east and will not stop at Albina as first intended Passengers from Portland for the sound take the steamer at Ash street at 4 o'clock P M. The R R Thompson while she was laid up was thoroughly overhauled and painted a pure glossy white Her appearance is very much improved and no Oregon-built steamer can elevate her nose at the Thompson

ANDREW ROBERTS.

This old reliable clothing tailoring and hat store at the corner of First and Alder streets is one of the best and oldest in Portland The effort of the proprietor at all times has been to keep in stock a kind of goods that may be safely recommended as first class Mr Roberts has perfected arrangements with eastern manufacturers by which he has selected material put into all his ready made clothing, and the best of workmen only are employed in its production He goes east about the first of May to buy cloths and superintend the manufacturing of the same In this way all of the ready made clothing of this store is equal to custom made goods—in fact they are really custom made goods the only difference between them and the goods produced by a tailor is that they are not made by measurement But having a very large stock of all sizes and grades of goods the customer can be fitted to his exact measurement as well as if ordered from a tailor In addition to this Mr Roberts has a first class cutter and tailor in his own employ, who will make up suits to order and correct measurement In the hat department Mr Roberts has a full supply of the latest styles In the furnishing department this store has facilities for obtaining these goods at low prices for an extra quality of goods that are unexcelled in this city Mr Roberts has just received a large importation of goods in all lines that are elegant stylish desirable and good in all respects Mr Roberts is a man of fine business habits and carefully culls his employes for their adaptibility to his line of business

Announcement.

G Anderson & Co watchmakers and jewelers, have removed from No 84 Morrison street to No 220 First street They have in the short time being here built up a good trade and gained a high reputation especially as fine watchmakers, also for skill and neatness in repairing all kinds of jewelry They are now better prepared than ever to wait on their patrons having a larger stock to select from besides having added to their business a first class diamond setter and manufacturing jeweler with twenty-seven years experience eleven years in Europe and seventeen in the principal cities of America Everything sold manufactured or repaired by this firm is warranted to be just as represented

OPENING AT MRS. ADCOCK'S.

Tuesday and Wednesday and every day thereafter the ladies of Portland are invited to inspect the millinery imported by Mrs Adcock corner First and Main. This is by all odds the most tasteful and the handsomest store in Portland, and the quality of stock is in keeping with the surroundings

CATCH ON TO IT!—Rather than be left with our large stock of summer fine shoes and slippers to get out of style, we will sell our new stock of men's and ladies' shoes at from 25 cents to $1 under regular prices and don't you forget it.

BALLAD CONCERT AT THE Y. M. C. A

The concert given last evening at the Y M C A hall was largely attended and assures the success of the course The object of the association is to provide good wholesome entertainment for its members free and offer the public first class concerts and lectures at low rates which their special facilities enable them to do. The first selection "Il Trovatore" by Mrs I L C[illegible] and W. H. Kinross was given with remarkable power and brilliancy, placing the audience at once in fine humor Miss Anderson in excellent style and charmingly rendered "It was a Dream" Mr Kinross followed with "R[illegible] in the Cradle of the Deep" as only he can sing it [illegible] [illegible] was also [illegible] well appreciated [illegible] the [illegible] was the next selection [illegible] Mrs J A Gilliam with her usual [illegible] [illegible] hearty applause The pleasure of the evening was greatly enhanced by the performance of Master Isaac Newman [illegible] eight years who gives [illegible] remarkable proficiency on the violin Miss [illegible] warmly encored

ANOTHER PIONEER VOTER HEARD FROM

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your list of pioneer voters of Portland you return "William A Abbott died in Maine" Mr Abbott is now living in Massachusetts has accumulated a considerable fortune, and is a heavy cigar manufacturer in that state. If there is anything in appearance he is good for twenty-five years yet

SEEN HIM

The success of the artisans training school in Minneapolis has been so great that an extension is now proposed The new building will be comprised in the mechanical department of the university of Michigan The training school is one outgrowth of the experiment made during the last three years in giving instruction in shopwork drawing and mathematics to young men intending to become artisans, as well as to those already at work

The superior quality of the materials used and the perfection of their manufacture render Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts the finest made. They impart a [illegible] taste to puddings cakes etc. Housekeepers who have used them for years know their worth and could not be induced to use the cheap kinds in the market

LAND PLASTER

FOR SALE BY

EVERDING & FARRELL.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 9, 1884.

SALEM NOTES.

SALEM, April 8.

Governor Moody returned home last evening from a flying trip to The Dalles.

The State Insurance Company will organize in this city to-morrow and elect their officers.

The Christian church of this city contemplate the erection of a new parsonage during the ensuing summer.

P. P. Galt, special agent of the Travelers' Insurance Company, is in the city and will remain for several days.

Two patients have recently escaped from the asylum outside working force. They will no doubt be returned at an early day.

E. S. Rockenfield is announced as a candidate for county treasurer, subject to the decision of the republican county convention.

Miss Hattie Baker, daughter of Harrison Baker of the Waldo Hills was thrown from a horse yesterday, dislocating her right shoulder.

Rt. Rev. B. W. Morris, the bishop of this diocese, will officiate at St. Paul's Episcopal church to-morrow (Wednesday) evening and administer the holy rite of confirmation.

The Home Amusement band of this city will give evening concerts in Wilson's avenue during the coming summer, provided the citizens will erect a band stand for their comfort and convenience.

Wiley Chapman of Clackamas, who was sergeant at arms of the last senate, died at his home yesterday after a long and painful illness. His children, M. N. Chapman and Mrs. Geo. A. Ebes of this city, have gone down to-day to attend the funeral. He was an old and highly respected citizen.

J. M. Patterson, who for the last year has been deputy postmaster under Mr. Crossman, will vacate his position the 1st of May, and Mr. E. C. Fordham has been appointed to fill the vacancy. A host of friends wish Mr. Patterson success in any business he may in the future engage.

At the last regular meeting of the Alka-Hesperian society, the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing term: Mark A. Fullerton, president; M. C. Starr, vice-president; Edward Peper, secretary; Arthur Wilson, assistant secretary; Harvey F. Gale, treasurer; August Geley, Censor; Claude Gatch, sergeant-at-arms.

The Alder Ditch and Canal Company has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state, with a capital stock of $1000 and the following incorporators: G. S. Renfro, Peter O'Sullivan, John Baskin and Russell Baskin. Principal office at Alder, in Union county. Also the Oregon Paving and Contract Company, with R. M. Steel, G. D. Dales and James Steel as incorporators. Capital stock, $30,000; principal office at Portland.

OREGON PACIFIC RAILROAD ITEMS.

Yaquina Post.

Tracklaying will again commence as soon as the weather will permit.

As we go to press a vessel is signaled off the bar, supposed to be the Vega of San Francisco with cargo for the O. P. R. R. Co.

There are six carts and horses in Toledo that have arrived within the last few days, besides twenty others on the way, for the O. P. R. R.

George Boswell, who was at one time superintendent of this division of the O. P. R. R., has returned and will take a position on the road again.

A corps of fifteen engineers were in camp at Snake creek, beyond Lebanon, last week, looking for a route across the Cascade mountains to Harney valley for the O. P. R. R., and the people of Lebanon are feeling first rate over the prospect of an early construction of the railway through that part of the country. Lebanon is a lively little city, and the completion of the Oregon Pacific railroad through her borders to an eastern connection will speed her growth and prosperity.

Ted Parker and company, who are getting out piles near the mouth of Hinton's slough, opposite Yaquina, got out their first raft on Monday, and left it, as they supposed, safely anchored. But the tide swelled and became stronger, the anchor proved to be too light for the business of holding 2530 feet of green piling, and anchor, ropes and piling floated out on the rushing tide over the bar—a total loss of $150 or $200. The piling was for the extension of the O. P. R. R. Co.'s dock.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN ON GIVING.

St. Louis Chronicle

The originals of the following letters, the one to his father and the other to a half brother, are held by B. L. Worth of St. Louis, and came into his possession through the purchase of the office fixtures of ex-Mayor John How:

WASHINGTON, December 24, 1848.

My Dear Father: Your letter of the 7th was received night before last. I very cheerfully send you the $20, which sum you say is necessary to save your land from sale. It is singular that you should have forgotten a judgment against you, and it is more singular that the plaintiff should have let you forget it so long, particularly, as I suppose you have always had property enough to satisfy a judgment of that amount. Before you pay it it would be well to be sure you have not paid it, or at least that you cannot prove that you have paid it. Give my love to mother and all the connections. Affectionately, your son,

A. LINCOLN.

Dear Johnston: Your request for $80 I do not think it best to comply with just now. At the various times when I have helped you a little you have said to me, "We can get along very well now," but in a short time I find you in the same difficulty again. Now this can only happen by some defect in your conduct. What the defect is I think I know. You are not lazy, and still you are an idler. I doubt whether, since I saw you, you have done a good whole day's work in any one day. You do not very much dislike to work, and still you do not work much, merely because it does not seem to you that you could get much for it. This habit of uselessly wasting time is the whole difficulty, and it is vastly important to you, and still more to your children, that you should break this habit. It is more important to them because they have longer to live and can keep out of an idle habit before they are in it easier than they can get out after they are in.

You are now in need of some ready money, and what I propose is that you shall go to work, "tooth and nail," for somebody who will give you money for it. Let father and your boys have charge of things at home—prepare for a crop and make the crop—and you go to work for the best money wages, or in discharge of any debt you owe, that you can get. And to secure you a fair reward for your labor, I now promise you that for every dollar you will, between now and the 1st of May, get for your labor, either in money or your own indebtedness, I will give you one other dollar. By this, if you hire yourself at $10 a month, from me you will get $10 more, making $20 a month for your work. In this I do not mean you shall go off to St. Louis, or the lead mines or the gold mines in California, but I mean for you to go at it for the best wages you can get close to home—in Coles county. Now, if you will do this, you will soon be out of debt, and, what is better, you will have a habit that will keep you from getting in debt again. But if I should now clear you out, next year you will be just as deep in as ever. You say you would almost give your place in heaven for $70 or $80. Then you value your place in heaven very cheap, for I am sure you can, with the offer I make you, get the $70 or $80 with four or five months' work. You say if I furnish you the money you will deed me the land, and if you don't pay the money back you will deliver possession. Nonsense! If you cannot now live with the land, how will you then live without it? You have always been kind to me, and I do not now mean to be unkind to you. On the contrary, if you will but follow my advice, you will find it worth more than 80 times $80 to you. Affectionately, your brother,

A. LINCOLN.

SICILIAN SUPERSTITIONS.

The Legends Attaching to Mount Etna in the Minds of the Peasants.

From Temple Bar.

In the farm house called La Scala, in the Piano, the farmer found that the rats had eaten all the inside of his cheese, leaving only the rind. He told one of his laborers of this, saying he must carry off his cheese to Bronte. This man, whose clothes had also been gnawed, replied: "Leave it to me; I will see about it." He then sharpened a nail to a point, like a needle, and stuck it in the floor where the rats passed, saying: "May the rat which gnawed my drawers fall on this and kill himself." The farmer and he watched until they saw the rats come and walk past the nail unhurt. At last one rat ran upon it and was killed. From that time no rat came near the place. This man had the power of charming away pain when horses, etc., were suffering from colic. He was refused absolution by the priest after confession and not allowed to receive the sacrament. There was also a "Monaca di Casa," who lived in Linguaglossa, who had these supernatural powers. She was consulted by those who had been robbed. After listening to their story she thought for a few minutes and then told them where the stolen goods were to be found. One of the Maniace men went to her when the driving belts of the engine were stolen. An old robber who died in Bronte four years ago at the age of 103 had the same reputation; and a poor, sick, scrofulous boy, bedridden for the last twelve years, is also one of the "white witch tribe." He knows the name of and cure for all diseases, where stolen things are hidden, where money is to be found buried under stones, and the like, and he has predicted his own death, which is to take place in two years from this date. When Peppo Pagano's cottage was being built some human bones were dug up. These were put in a basket previous to being reinterred, and placed for the night in a corner of the hut where the workmen slept. They declared the next morning that they had been kept awake all the night by the bones rattling and dancing in the basket. In August, 1881, during a terrific storm of thunder, lightning, wind and hail as large as pigeons' eggs, a priest died in Bronte. He was an enormously fat and self-indulgent man, very rich and with a bad character. At the very moment when his corpse was carried into the church a young married woman, the mother of three children, respected and esteemed by all who knew her, was receiving the sacrament. As she opened her mouth the spirit of T., the priest, passed into her. From that time she has been subject to fits of madness, in which she speaks and acts exactly as he did, her voice sounding like his. She has confessed many of his crimes; among others that he had been in the habit of cheating the poor by giving unsigned receipts or writing down the wrong amount when they entrusted corn or money to him. An attempt was made by the priests to exorcise the demon which had entered into her, but he threatened to go into another young woman if they did, so, thinking it as well to circumscribe the area of the devil's activities, and wiser to put up with what they knew than to attempt unknown charms, they desisted and left things as they were.

T. W. Higginson on Outdoor Life.

It is very certain that all the physical universe takes the side of health and activity, wooing us forth into nature, imploring us hourly, and in unexpected ways, to receive her blessed breath into body and soul and share in her eternal youth. For this are summer and winter, seed time and harvest given; for this do violet and bloodroot come, and gentian and witch hazel go; for this do changing sunsets make you path between the pines a gateway into heaven; for this does day shut us down within the loveliness of its dome of light, and night, lifting it, make us free of the vast fellowship of stars; for this do pale meteors wander nightly, soft as wind blown blossoms, down the air; for this do silent snows transform the winter woods to feathery things that seem too light to linger, and yet too vast to take their flight; for this does all the fair creation answer to every dream or mood of man, so that we receive but what we give. All is offered to us to call us from our books and our trade, and summon us to nature's health and joy. To study with the artist the least of her beauties; to explore with the man of science the smallest of her wonders, or even simply to wander among her exhaustless resources, like a child, needing no interest unborrowed from the eye—this for all body, and brain, and heart, and soul together."

WYOMING STOCK GROWERS.

Large Attendance and Unanimity of Thought—Stock in Good Condition.

CHEYENNE, April 8.—The second day's session of the Wyoming Stockgrowers' Association opened with a large attendance. The territorial veterinarian's report shows that no contagious disease prevails within the limits of Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska and Montana. He deprecates the importation of Texas cattle into the territory by rail and urges the association to adopt measures to prevent it. He heartily endorses the pleuro-pneumonia bill. The question of stock cars was thoroughly discussed, all agreeing for radical improvement. The construction of improved running gear had become an urgent necessity and strong resolutions were adopted inviting the attention of transportation companies to a number of specific requirements in the construction of running gear to obviate the the evils complained of. The car used on the Northern Pacific was visited and favorably commented on. On motion a committee was appointed to prepare a memorial to the secretary of the interior, asking that the national cattle trail from Texas to the Little Missouri and the northwest be reopened.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The association finds it has been seriously injured by a pooling arrangement prevailing among buyers at the Chicago stock yards, and,

WHEREAS, The prices of hay and yardage constitute a heavy tax upon the value of cattle, therefore,

Resolved, That it is incumbent upon the association to examine any and all means which may result in opening another market for our cattle, whereby larger returns may be obtained; that the proposal by Mr. Frewen of shipping beeves via the Northern Pacific railroad to Duluth, and from Canada to England, offers a possible method of getting our beeves, and also lighter cattle, if desired, to the very highest market, viz., Great Britain; that the executive committee is hereby instructed to obtain the fullest possible information as to the above points, and report its conclusions to the association by circular or at a special meeting.

AN EASY WINTER.

A circular was read from the Hunter & Evans cattle company and others, asking the cooperation of this association in the organization of a national cattle growers' association, to hold the first meeting at St. Louis the 3d of next November. Twenty five of the leading members of the association were appointed delegates to that meeting.

Interviews with representative cattle men from the upper Platte, Medicine Bow, Sweetwater, and Bitter creek indicate that stock in those localities have wintered well, losses have been trifling, and stock is in good condition. On the Big Horn and Belle Fourche ranges stock wintered fairly well. At the North Platte, Rawhide creek and Sheep creek, while losses are not large, stock is not in as good condition as on ranges further west, and northwestern Nebraska has suffered considerably, and especially along the line of the Union Pacific railroad. Heavy snows prevail to an unusual extent in the Running water and White water countries of Nebraska, and losses are reported as heavy.

It is the general opinion among stockmen that there will probably be an increased shipment of beef during the coming season, which commences in August. Chicago seems to be the natural market for the beef of this section, and will probably get a large proportion of the shipments. About 100,000 head were shipped last year over the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific roads, and probably as many will be shipped the present summer. Stock in Colorado ranges passed the winter with few or no loss. Colorado will increase her last year's shipments.

RAILROAD NOTES.

RUMORED CHANGES.

BOSTON, April 8.—It is rumored that there are changes proposed in the management of the Union Pacific railway. It has been decided that Atkins will continue to be vice president and in charge of the finance department, while others named for vice presidents will act as executive heads of their respective departments. The general manager of the Chicago and Grand Trunk road has already consented to come to Boston to act as director and assume charge of the details, which now come largely upon Ames. The contemplated issue of $7,800,000 worth of new stock for construction money by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road is not regarded favorably by Union Pacific stockholders.

ASKING THAT AMES BE VACATED.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—The Union Pacific railway company, which succeeded to the franchise of the Union Pacific railroad company, has filed a petition asking that the decree, which made Oliver Ames receiver of the Credit Mobilier, be vacated, and that citizens of Pennsylvania be appointed instead. The removal of Ames is asked for on the ground that he has done nothing to wind up the affairs of the Credit Mobilier, which, it alleges, is insolvent and has no assets, except what might come out of the suit upon promissory notes for $2,000,000, brought against the Union Pacific company and now pending in Boston.

TRIPARTITE MEETING.

CHICAGO, April 8.—A meeting of the managers of roads, parties to the tripartite agreement forming the Western Trunk Line Association, met here yesterday for the purpose of consulting upon plans for harmonizing differences between the association and the Burlington road. The session was secret, but it is an understood matter that the Burlington issued orders stopping the issue of passes to sleepers for the purpose of influencing business, and that the tripartite meeting to-day took a like action.

FAST MAIL SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The postmaster general has received a dispatch stating that from and after the 15th inst. the Central Pacific Railroad Company will run a fast mail train from Ogden west, covering the distance between Ogden and San Francisco in thirty-nine hours. This will complete the fast mail service between New York and San Francisco, and save twenty four hours between these points.

A DENIAL.

BOSTON, April 8.—A prominent member of the Union Pacific committee emphatically denies the recent report that the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy people demanded the breaking up of the tripartite agreement and says also that the obstacles in the way of settlement have at no time been of a serious character. An arrangement satisfactory to all concerned is expected to be made at the meeting Saturday next.

CURIOSITIES OF NATURE.

The Jumping Gall, the Acrobatic Bean and Seeds that Explode.

New York Sun.

"Here is a curiosity," said a botanist. It was a little ball of wood or fibre that when held in the palm seemed endowed with life, rolling over and over and over and flying into the air.

"I've had people come to me with these," continued the speaker, "and say they were bewitched. One man believed he had discovered spontaneous generation; another wrote an exhaustive paper which he tried to read at all the learned societies, showing that here was the beginning of both animal and plant life. In fact the little gall, for that is what it is, has attracted a good deal of attention."

"So it is only a plant," said the reporter.

"Not exactly a plant, but the unnatural growth of vegetable matter on trees, bushes or shrubs, caused by the secretion in the bark of an insect egg that hatches and causes the growth. In this case, you see, the gall is little larger than a mustard seed."

"The gall is produced in this way: The eggs of a very small dark colored insect, known as cynips, are deposited in the leaf, and from some secretion introduced into the wound, the vegetable matter encloses the insect in a ball of fiber separate from the leaf, from which it finally drops. The larva's movements in restraint create the curious activity.

"There are many kinds of galls, and though they are injurious to trees they are invaluable to man, and are staple commodities. The ordinary oak galls of commerce are made by a cynips. When they are green, blue or black, the insect is in them, but when white it has escaped. England is the center of the trade, and receives galls from Germany, Turkey, Egypt, China and Bombay. The galls are used for a variety of purposes. One sort of blasting powder is made of powdered galls and chlorate, but the most valuable product is ink. This is made from them almost entirely.

"Seeds often jump about in the same mysterious way. In Mexico strangers see a curious seed known as devil's bean, or jumping seed. In appearance it is a small triangular body. The first time I saw these seeds I was sure that they were arranged with mechanical springs as they not only rolled about, but jumped several inches in the air. But open one of the seeds and the mystery is explained. The shell is hollowed out, containing nothing but a white larva that has eaten out nearly all the interior and lined it with silk. Its motions occasion the strange movements.

"Some seeds move by an entirely different process, that of exploding. A friend of mine got some seeds in India once and placed them on his cabin table. All at once came an explosion like that of a revolver, and he received a blow on the forehead that drew blood, while a looking glass opposite was shattered. The seeds had become heated, and all at once the covering exploded, scattering the seeds in all directions. That is the manner of their dispersal, and a large number of plants have a similar method of scattering their seed."

Lord Tennyson.

Lord Tennyson took his place among the English peers on Tuesday afternoon, March 11. It was unmistakably a trying ordeal to the laureate to be conveyed about the house of lords in scarlet and ermine under the gaslight with garter king-at-arms, in heraldic tabard, stalking before him, six or seven peers watching him with languid interest, and a gathering of curious onlookers in the galleries. The visitors took stock of his unwonted attire, his bearing, and his nervous mistakes. The famous bard did not acquit himself with much dignity of bearing, and it was whispered about that the robes which had been made for him had not reached their proper destination. To quote his own words, "Some one had blundered," and the state garment of Lord Coleridge, who is a good deal taller than Tennyson, had to be used for the occasion. The author of the "Idyls of the King" looked anything but kingly as he went through the pantomime of what is called "Taking the seat." It is said that when the late Lord Clyde, who put down the Sepoy rebellion, took his seat, he swore at the robes. Lord Tennyson is too polite to be profane, but he looked as though an oath would relieve him almost as much as it would Mr. Bradlaugh's. His long petticoats annoyed him, he stumbled over them, and seemed to wish them miles away, and as soon as he could get them off, he marched home. The duke of Argyll and the earl of Kenmare were his sponsors, and being duly robed, they were solemnly escorted through the grand corridor and the lords' lobby into the house, where the lord chancellor awaited them, sitting in his robes and three cornered hat. The little procession made obeisances in all directions as it advanced up the floor, the poetic neophyte bowing at large when he should have bestowed a salutation in some particular quarter. The woolsack being reached, the garter king-at-arms handed the patent of nobility to the lord chancellor, who passed it to the chief clerk, who read it to the assembled peers. Only a few of their lordships were present, and they seemed to regard the affair with aristocratic hauteur. The men whose fathers came over with the Conqueror restrained their emotions, if they felt any. The clerk proceeded to administer the oath, and the poet, being unfamiliar with the process, or having forgotten the instructions of his friends, kissed the gospels before repeating the asseveration. Then there was another procession, and more awkward bowing and Lord Tennyson at length found himself with a borrowed plumed hat and standing in the lobby with a few intimate friends.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch suggests that business men try the experiment of employing women as cashiers and confidential clerks, in view of the long list of defalcations and embezzlements among male employes. Women are not exposed to the temptations of young men. "They do not smoke and drink, and haunt billiard rooms. They do not spend money on back rides and on frail companions. They do not know how to bet; they have no chance to gamble."

According to the report of a committee of the New York board of health, appointed to examine into the recent cases of diphtheria among some children of Amsterdam, New York, a cat and a doll were mainly instrumental in spreading the disease.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

TUESDAY, April 8.

Overland receipts include 77 cs canned meats 100 bbls oat meal.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty four hours: 3219 ctls wheat, 2849 bbls flour, 61 ctls oats, 171 sks potatoes, 56 lbs hides, 70 cs eggs, 3 bxs fruit, 11 butter, 15 bls hay. Also, 3794 ctls wheat, 1816 bbls flour, 27 ctls millstuff, 2095 lbs hides from the eastern region.

WHEAT—Our market shows increased weakness for sell, buyers not being anxious for stocks and fearing further depreciation. Quotations are next to impossible, as there appears to be none selling. Few bids are out, and these are stated to be at less than $1 50 for valley. A large quantity of Walla Walla has been received the past few days, all bought some time ago for ships now in berth. The foreign markets are off for spring wheats. Liverpool spot notes further decline. Chicago options rallied 2¼c to-day, and strong attempts will be made to keep them up. San Francisco spot and futures exhibit a downward tendency with considerable business doing in futures. English wheats are 4s 3d below last year's values.

The aggregate supply of wheat in sight in the United States (exclusive of California and Oregon) and Canada, March 29, was 30,2[illegible],700 bushels, and of corn 15,940,700 bushels, against on the preceding weekly exhibit, an aggregate of 30,540,300 bushels wheat, and 16,247,100 bushels corn; and an aggregate of 23,9[illegible]6,900 bushels wheat, and 14,[illegible]21,900 bushels corn at the corresponding date the preceding year.

With an average wheat crop last year, and an unusually large surplus carried over from the crop of 1882, we have exported from this country from the 1st of last July to the end of January 17,500,100 bushels less of wheat and flour than we did during the same period of 1882-3.

A Chicago firm reports the receipts of wheat at Milwaukee and Chicago, from the crop of 1883 thus far, at 22,370,329 bushels against 21,914,724 the corresponding time last season.

FLOUR—A good movement is had with values as regards local trade showing no change. For shipment the market is depressed and there is little doing. The Minneapolis mills now have a full head of water and are increasing their grinding notwithstanding the poor outlook.

OATS—Dealers still have ample stocks and refuse to bid up. Supplies are held back and any advance will bring large arrivals. At 47½@49c for good to choice the market is steady.

PROVISIONS—We quote: Bacon, 12@13c; shoulders, 9@11c; country cured hams, 13@14c; best local do., 16@17c. Eastern choice do., 18c. Lard, 13½@14c for eastern pails; kegs, 11@12c; small tins of common, 13c, local in 10 and 5 lb tins, 14@14½c.

BUTTER—The tendency appears to be to more firmness for roll. In the event of an advance plenty of solid will be on the market.

EGGS—Retailers buying more liberally at the bottom prices and propose to stock up for Easter. How long the low price will rule is now the leading question. We quote 18 cents.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Oregon reached San Francisco at 9 A. M.

The Columbia sailed from San Francisco at 11 A. M.

Ship St. Lucie, hence November 12 with 39,738 [illegible] wheat by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., has arrived at Havre in a passage of 147 days.

The leading vessel out from Liverpool is now the Norseman, out 137 days and fully due. She is followed by the Itata, 126 days out, and the Tythonus, 125 days out from London. The Jorsalferer is now at Victoria with part cargo for this port.

The Alaskan brought no freight and is now at the boneyard for overhauling.

The barkentine Melancthon is in the river with a cargo from San Francisco and is due at Portland on Friday.

The San Pablo is not the first American to reach steamer to pass through the Suez canal, but is the first to carry a full cargo through. In December, 1870, and January, 1871, the Arizona and Alaska, belonging to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, left New York for Hong Kong by the canal route.

On fourteen sections of the Panama canal work is now being pushed forward actively. Four million cubic metres of earth have been removed within a few months. About 60,000,000 cubic metres still are to be removed. Fifteen thousand men are employed on the work. They earn about $1 a day each and spend about 20 cents a day for food.

Durham is historic. It was neutral ground during the armistice between Sherman and Johnston. Soldiers of both armies filled their pouches with the tobacco stored there, and, after the surrender, marched homeward. Soon orders came from East, West, North and South, for more of that elegant tobacco. Then, began to be an unknown factory. Now it employs 800 men, uses the milk and pack of the Golden Belt, and the Durham Bull is the trade mark of this, the best tobacco in the world. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco has the largest sale of any smoking tobacco in the world. Why? Simply because it is the best. All dealers have it. Trade mark of the Bull.

LOOK OUT! DURHAM BULL. If he'd gone for a package of Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco, as he was told, he wouldn't have been cornered by the bull.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral. No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs; none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured. "In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER." Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute. "While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours, MRS. EMMA GEDNEY." 159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE." Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN." Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON." Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine. PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists.

CANCER.

The experience in the treatment of Cancer with Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) would seem to warrant us in saying that it will cure this much dreaded scourge. Persons so afflicted are invited to correspond with us.

I believe Swift's Specific has saved my life. I had virtually lost use of the upper part of my body and my arms from the poisonous effects of a large cancer on my neck, from which I had suffered for 20 years. S. S. S. has relieved me of all soreness, and the poison is being forced out of my system. I will soon be well. W. R. ROBISON, Davisboro, Ga.

Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a woman afflicted with a cancer on her shoulder, at least 5 inches in circumference, angry, inflamed and giving the patient no rest day or night for 6 months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific for her. She has taken 5 bottles, and the ulcer is entirely healed up, only a very small scab remaining, and her health is better than for 5 years past; seems to be perfectly cured. REV. JESSE H. CAMPBELL, Columbus, Ga.

I have seen remarkable results from use of Swift's Specific on cancer. A young man near here has been afflicted 5 years with the most angry looking eating cancer I ever saw, and was nearly dead. The first bottle made a wonderful change, and after 5 bottles were taken he is nearly or quite well. It is truly wonderful. M. F. CRUMLEY, M. D., Oglethorpe, Ga.

UNDER LIP AND INSIDE OF CHEEK EATEN AWAY BY CANCER.

My father had an eating cancer for sixty years, which had eaten away his under lip and the inside of his cheek down to the bottom of his gums. We got some of Swift's Specific and gave it to him, and the effect has been wonderful—almost miraculous. The sores are all healed and he is perfectly well. Every one here said it was one of the most terrible cases about his death, and his cure has created the greatest excitement in this part of the country. I hope you will publish above my father's case and send me some circulars to give to my friends and others. WM. R. LATHROP, Santa Fe, Cal., Mar. 1884.
